Why candidates want to do css?

Central Superior Services (css) is the competitive exam in Pakistan, which holds every year. Every year, more than twenty thousands candidates apply for it; however, a very few aspirants qualified it. It is one of the most disfficult and prestigious exam of the country. Therefore, many candidates have burning desires to the exam. There are numerous reasons for candidates to take the CSS exam. First, It is one of the renowned professions in the country, so every one wants to get it. Second, there is much respect, power and protocal which appeal human nature. Third, the educated environment also persuades many candidates toward CSS. Fourth, many parents have dreams for their children that they want to see them in bureaucracy. Fifth, the circumstances at home, taunts from relatives and similar factors compel candidates to do something different inorder to change the perception and Examination in country.

To pass the examination

Part of it

For

I also have dream for Princess

Conditions' of their Surroundings. Finally, Some Candidates like to face risk and Challenging task, therefore, they opt CSS. Whatever the reason is all Candidates go through same kind of Challenge, experiences and mental pressures during the journey of CSS. Which makes them strong and a Courageous bereaucrat.