

The real function of Philosophy

Parmenides focused on mystery of knowledge but Pre-Socratic examined the firm earth and observed its secrets. Democritus made opinion on reality of external world; Tales confronted the philosophers who cornered the market. Anaxagoras was like Darwin for Greeks, and turned Pericles into a great thinker and Statesman. Socrates and Plato also focused on broad and empirical approach of philosophy and once they all littered the court of the Queen. The Master behaved amorously with the issues of ideas, thoughts and knowledge, ~~but~~ and the thought about broader field and made an ideal state. Aristotle's philosophy had boundless scope and here every problem found a place and every science found wisdom. These philosophers knew the functions of philosophy and came forth with the realm of inquiry and gathered all the knowledge.
