Un-realistic Advertisement of Products

T.V Commercials often create an un-real world by idealizing individuals and Portraying an imaginary life that does not exist. They often showcase things that are not appreciated by Society. However, investors invest millions in the advertisement of their products, but they often fail to impress viewers. Repeatedly, entrepreneurs re-advertise their ads. This persistence sometimes results in commercials being labeled as un-realistic. People tune into these ads primarily for entertainment, as they often lack other viable options.
