

DATE: 4/10/2023

DAY: Wednesday

Why Candidates Want to do CSS?

Central Superior Services (CSS) is the competitive exam in Pakistan, which holds every year. Every year, more than twenty thousands candidates apply for it; however, a very few aspirants qualified it. It is one of the most difficult and prestigious exam of the country. Therefore, many candidates have burning desires to crack the exam. There are numerous reasons for candidates to take the CSS exam.

First, it is one of the renowned professions in the country, so every one wants to get it. Second, there is much respect, power and protocol which appeal human nature. Third, the educated environment also persuades many candidates towards CSS. Fourth, many parents have dreams for their children that they want to see them in bureaucracy. Fifth, the circumstances at home, taunts from relatives and similar factors compel candidates to do something different in order to change the perception and

DATE: _____

DAY: _____

Conditions of their surroundings. Finally, some candidates like to take risk and challenging task; therefore, they opt CSS. Whatever the reason is all candidates go through same ~~of~~ kind of challenges, experiences and mental pressures during the journey of CSS. Which makes them strong and a courageous bureaucrat.