

Pakistani Women have same chances as men

Outline :-

1) Introduction

The topic is not about status of women

Thesis Statement: ~~The status of Pakistani women in comparison to men presents a dynamic landscape. Despite historical and cultural challenges, Pakistani women have made significant strides in recent years, gaining comparable opportunities to men in various spheres of life. However, the journey towards full gender equality in Pakistan is a struggle, demanding continued commitment and systematic change.~~

Comparable is not same

Unclear thesis statement. Your point is vague. Do they have equal chances or not?

2) Have Pakistani women got same chances as men?

Your main heading should address the key words. The topic is not about status of women. Quota is discrimination. Reservation of quota proves that equal opportunities do not exist. That government has to intervene to ensure representation.

3) Status of Pakistani women and gains (Thesis)

a) Reservations and

b) The inception of rights movements

c) Prominent female politicians and leaders

d) Representation in political institutions

e) Increased female workforce

Does not relate to same chances

Overlapping points participation.

b) Microfinance initiatives by females

4) Status of Pakistani women: Persisting gender disparities (Anti-Thesis)

a) Compromise of merit based selection Does not talk about same chances

b) Opposition to women's rights movements persists in society

c) Limited representation of prominent women noted

d) Underrepresentation of women in politics Same as previous point

e) Stagnation in women workforce engagement.

b) Neglected women-led microfinance initiatives How does that relate to same chances at all

5) Towards Gender Parity: A Path Forward for Pakistani Women (Synthesis)

a) Challenges merit-based selection, but seeks gender equality

b) Society's resistance exists despite ongoing women's rights progress

c) Noticeable scarcity despite women's leadership contributions and acknowledgement.

d) Gender imbalance persists despite growing female political engagement Does not agree with your thesis

e) Women work involvement stays constant e). Women - led. microfinance initiatives seldom disregarded

6) Conclusion