

Only a healthy population can be an asset for a country

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis statement:

A nation's greatest asset is the health of its population. As it directly correlates with increased economic growth, productivity, ethical and social stability. This highlights the vital role of health in a country's overall prosperity and development.

~~2. Why is a healthy population~~

2. What is a healthy population?

Use better word than what

3. How health of population is an asset.

Healthy human resources is more efficient.
Results in increased economic growth
Reduced burden on health care systems
Social cohesion and community engagement
Contribute to health welfare of nation
Expansion of labor force.

Healthy population
Don't change the phenomenon at least

Add 2 more points as this is the asked part

4. Impediments in attaining healthy population

Inequalities and limited access to education
Lack of skilled labor force
Malnutrition among children
Poor infrastructure in healthcare
Unstable emotional health

5. Provisions to improve the situation

Human capital development
Investment in skills and education
Poverty alleviation for better quality of life
Investment in healthcare infrastructure
Providing institutions for mental

Explain that situation health support.

6- Conclusion

