Indent the paragraph.

Affection Towards Children.

Modern Educational theorists do not believe in with engaging children. Liking and treating children like pets is not the right way to treat with them without damaging their psyche. Not harming psychologically teaching children multiple things and getting assisable response is the art of teaching.

This sentence is structurally wrong. Write it again in simple sentences.

Overburdened Overburdened teachers cannot give the required attention to the child. Child's Child's negative and positive personality traits are designed by a teacher's likeness and affection towards them. Every child need is different while treating with them and a right way of treating them can bring positive changes in their lives.

Structure needs improvement. Mistakes identified.
