

Pakistani women have same chances as men.

In Pakistan, there exist two schools of thought. One believes that women in Pakistan enjoy the same opportunities as men while the other is of the opinion that severe disparity exists in the opportunities for both genders. The facts reveal this is how you start your thesis statement

1. Introduction

Thesis statement: Pakistan women are facing inequality in different spheres of life while equality of availability of chances is also exist in some spheres. But unevenness of opportunities is more dominant in Pakistan. It is actually the outcome of patriarchy system, cultural barriers and old-fashioned mindsets of

Contradictory sentence

2. Pakistani women have equal ^{9th} unequal chances in different wake of life.

Grammatically and logically unsound. Both cannot be true at the same time

3. Pakistani women donot have same chances as men have. (Thesis)

a. Men are preferred over women in employment sector.

b. Women are not involved in family planning

c. Less opportunities for getting education especially higher education

d. No right of marriage of her own choice

e. Unevenness of opportunities in politics

4. Pakistani women have same chances as men have.

a. Women enjoy double merits in job selection

b. Vital role in family planning

c. Women enrollment in tertiary education is higher then men

d. Women have right to marry of her own choice

e. Women - important pillar of politics

(Synthesis)

- a. Men are considered more rational than women
- b. Pakistan has patriarchy system, so women are restrained ^{From} to do family planning
- c. Parents prefer investment in education of boys than girls
- d. Marrying without family consent is considered against culture of Pakistan
- e. Women are not able to compete and defeat political rivals but men can.
6. Conclusion