Title: Manto - A Social Psychologist.

Precis:

Manto was a victim of social uncertainty. His critics labelled him as an indecent and pushed him into a legal battle to interrogate the moral value of his writings. But still he continued to uncover the grim realities of life, that opposed the ideas of self-proclaimed purists. In Freudian terms, he unconcealed the enginements of sex in a perceivable way. This shows his concern for the marginalized and stressed social classes. For Manto, man is an amalgam of both angel and devil. As a realist Manto was annoyed by the hypocrisy in human behavior. He treated vulgarity in a subliminal manner. His work perfectly mirrors the feelings of men and women, hence they can relate themselves.
