

Sub-heading: Nuclear challenge to world peace during the 21st century

Topic Sentence: There are several nuclear challenges to world peace during the 21st century, one of them is nuclear proliferation

Explanatory Sentence: Nuclear proliferation is a major worry since it involves more countries or groups seeking to possess nuclear weapons. The Nuclear non-Proliferative Treaty [NPT], is designed to address this issue.

Supporting Sentence: Nuclear proliferation poses a threat to global stability & peace. It will have a destabilising effect & can result in increased tensions & the possibility of conflict.

Example: Iran's interest of nuclear capabilities has drawn attention, raising concerns about the spread of nuclear weapons in the middle East [Hankoi Li, Iran's Nuclear Ambition, 2021].

Conclusion: Therefore, nuclear proliferation is a rising challenge to the world peace & stability during the 21st century.
