

Topic : Abortion
Subheading : Ban on Abortion

Paragraph writing

Topic Sentence (S1)	It is a popular belief among citizens of conservative preferences that abortion should be banned.
Reason (S2)	They believe their religion or their culture has taught them to value each human life and do no harm hence abortion is in direct violation of these teachings.
Supporting point (S3)	While it may be tempting for such people to impose their inclination on everyone, they are ignoring several significant precursors of abortion.
Evidence (S4)	Situations that threaten the life of the mother or fetus warrant an abortion on medical grounds. A complete ban on abortion will lead to increased obstetric deaths.
Example (S5)	Ectopic pregnancy is such a case where not having access to abortion will risk the life of the mother.
Conclusion (S6)	While there are many supporters of the abortion ban, ignoring medical conditions will lead to severe consequences.

Topic: How often do you go to the library
Subheading: Lack of access to libraries

Paragraph writing

Topic Sentence (S1)

Many people don't go to libraries because they don't have one near them.

Reason (S2)

It is a simple concept that people would be less inclined to visit a place that is not accessible to them.

Supporting point (S3)

It is unrealistic to assume that a person will travel several miles to visit a library in a digital age where any information they desire is just a tap away.

Evidence (S4)

A research by Pakistan Institute of Development Economics (PIDE) has claimed that 83% of Pakistanis do not have access to ~~libraries~~ any library. One of the reasons for this can be speculated to be the distance of the facility from their homes and offices.

Conclusion (S)

Example (S5)

If a person were to choose between their neighbourhood cafe and a far distance library, their preference would bend towards the closer one.

Conclusion (S6)

Long distances between communities and libraries leads to a decreased readiness amongst people to visit them.

words: 148