

and China will play their role in solving Afghan crisis for their strategic partnership.

CSS - 2018

Precis

Title:

Human nature and climate change.

Human nature differs in tropical and temperate region of the world. The moderate cold climate of temperate region is conducive for the people. In Moderate cold, people becomes active and performs arduous jobs and try to overcome the hurdles of cold weather. They build homes, and wear warm clothes. They dig earth in search of coal and cut trees for wood in order to lit fire and keep themselves warm. They procure food for themselves as their body demands energy for performing living works. While on the other hand, in hot climate of tropical countries, people become lazy and don't perform any tiring works. In short, in hot climate, people become inactive and lazy while in cold climate people become more active and performs vigorous tasks.

Passage words : 351

Precis words : 126