

A Timeless Classic

To be generally agreed as a classic work should meet some common high standards, appeal, longevity and influence. Such a work must be of artistic quality, at least for the time it was written. It also has the quality to change the attitudes of people and inspire generations to follow its path.

The Quran is a religious scripture that has all the classic qualities.

Quran has the grand stories of past, rumbling of the present, prophecies of the future, answers of the recurring questions of the disbelievers and a lot more. One may (learn) read it for blessings, in a short spare reading, he may find the solution of his problems.

One may find it perplexing when ^{he found} interlinked messages are found to be interwinded, or maybe, scattered in different surrah.

While reading, one may find the nuggets of wisdom but then trail may seem to disappear.

For getting the other clue, it may cause the reader returning to the book, deepening one's learning.

Once the trail is found again, it will cause the euphoria, and urge (of + g) to get the new discovery. For a curious person this is start of exhausting yet exhilarating quest to figure out the puzzle.

Everytime one reads the Quran intending to understand its meaning, he finds the same verse in the different perspective that was previously alluded to the different meaning. The intricacy of subject ^{that the} Quran cover make it a catalyst to spark intellectual debates.

This classic book is in our hands it is time to pursue its all contents and read it to understand its meaning rather than a customary reading one should learn it with the translation to understand it better. But, unfortunately (our) its understand is wrapped up in the silk gilaaf, on the top ^{reading} Cabinet it is time to follow the Quran and its message and implement it in our daily lives. We have to follow the lifestyle of prophet (PBUH) and his companions, how they were living at that time. If we follow them, it will change the circumstances that we are facing nowadays.
