Why I want to be a CSP officer

This is the best job in Pakistan. First of all, It is a well defined pathway to be a successful person. In Pakistan, hundred of thousands of students have been graduating with good grades. After completing graduation, they start searching for the jobs. Many of them may get their desired jobs but rest of them come back with unhappy faces.

This is not because they donot deserve to acquire the desireable jobs. But, there is a poor system, which hinders the youth of Pakistan to move forward. To undermine these hurdles, they prefer to go abroad for earning money and respect.

Being a Pakistani, part of this soil, One should not leave their land and serve other countries. It's better to opt for a field which gives a great opportunity for developing leadership Qualities.

In Pakistan, there are many examples of successful people who worked hard and cleared civil services exams. Today, they are working in their desirable environment.

In addition, this field gives power and prestige. The power which could help for the betterment of the country.

One's intentions should be transparent that they do not affect country's integrity.

Finally, I want to be a CSP officer, not only to get power and prestige, or a successful career but to fulfill the meaning to come in this word. If my knowledge, degrees, skills can help in the country's development ultimately I would get power, prestige and many good opportunities to be a great person.
