

Culture explains the Beauty

During vacation, last May, John and his friend had decided to trip, they wanted to visit strange place where no one else been gone. They both decided trip to Cherokee, district of Oklahoma. They managed their preparation and flew toward Cherokee and visited a town called "Qualla Boundary", which was full of natural and cultural decorated. Despite the language barrier they hardly reached Souvenir shop. They were welcomed and served lunch. He expressed his hard routine but he was satisfied it. He told that his tribe would have to arrange "Bingo Weekend", where the different games would attract the tourists for their economy growth. Finally they went to museum, which was full of amazing and historical artifacts. On his return he missed his memorable trip. He wishes that he would have to travel such exotic places like Cherokee.
