Effects of modern Education on children

The author criticizes the modern teachers, who avoid to develop linking with children. They are not enjoying their company. If one will have developing their relation with children like one have their pets. They will surely listening and following their advices. However, it is only possible when this linking is not base on any personal desire. They will not be interesting in selfish people. The desirable sort of interest is that enjoying their company without any ulterior desire. Unfortunately it is not possible for over-burden teachers. They are only focusing towards educational activities. Author feels that education does not a whole profession of any one's life. Teachers should avoid to spend more than two hours with students. Avoids stickness. The friendliness cannot produce self-control impulses makes to take right decision. If they feels your love. Surely follow your advices.
