"At his best, man is the noblest of all animals; separated from law and justice he is the worst".

(Aristotle)

Students enter into School to get education. Where every student studies different subjects like me. Although, i've studied alot of subjects, but my favourite subject is international law. It allows me to develop insight into the global legal system, and it's influence on the nations. It allows the most superior animals (men) to live in better way on this planet. After studying the international ^{humanitarian} law, i can play significant role for betterment of humanity.
