

Translation.

Every era brings itself such circumstances too that no one likes, but must have to accept it, occasionally nature wants to test ourself perhaps, brings many things to us that are irrelevant rather has no thing to do with us. Today is also the similar. Every country have been bringing the changes that we new to the previous ones. The development of natural sciences and arts have given number of things that can be pronounce as waste for the economic and scientific knowledge. Nature gives us fruit and makes us responsible to settel down the peels so it properly. If it is not done, the environment gets polluted.
