Essay : Bureaucracy Doldrums

Sub-heading : Persuading the culture of Nepotism.

Prevailing

Topic sentence : The prevailing culture of nepotism is the most well-known fact impacting the country's administration.

Reasoning sentence : This modus operandi affects the administration's performance and harms society's social and psychological health.

Supporting Point : The culture of favouritism could take you to the high sky of success or dump you in the dark asile of failure. It all depends upon the level of association one has in the administration department.

Example : As Steven majer, A world-leading expert in human science and a writer rightly said, "Political donations are a form of nepotism."

Concluding sentence : Thus, the trend of favouritism is hampering the efficacy of bureaucracy.
