Swarup apologized for his unavailability because his examination was approaching and he wanted to utilize his full time for study.

Jack expressed disdain for examinations and said that he did not worry about his and asked if they were of any use. In response to this, Swarup said that he could not get a degree if he did not pass the examination, and he had decided to become a graduate. Jack asked him what good ~~will~~<sup>would</sup> graduation do him. He might get a clerkship in a government office but that was all. In addition to that, there were hundreds of fellows who had got their degrees, and were not getting jobs anytime soon. Swarup said with optimism that he was not studying so much to pass his examination and obtain his degree only, but to store his mind with knowledge and develop his intellectual capabilities.
