Education Ensures Moral Development

There are three schools of thought exist on freedom in education. First, who votes for complete freedom of children, second one sides about complete subjection, and last one talks about the complete freedom but with great guidance. The idea that liberty will ensure moral perfection is merely a philosophical term, and it is not applicable on babies and animals. People with this belief think that education should provide suitable environment for growth. But, survival of world require co-operation. Education is important for its existence. It should be considered more than only an opportunity for growth and must also provide mental and moral assistance which children cannot have by themselves.
