The Essay

In a small town called Innovatia, where people started leaving the village, with dreams of better life, to Brightwood, a country promising wealth and success and many opportunities. As they left, soon started to realise the hustle bustle of Brightwood, where people were too busy to ask each others names, lack of close bound and missed the sense of purpose they had in innovatia. This realization caused some to return to their homeland, bringing back new and enhanced skills. Together, they all revived innovatia, and learned that talent might be drawn away by promises of prosperity but the true strength lies in preventing the drain of most valuable minds and investing back in the home country. This shows brain drain is a matter of serious concern for any country as it takes off individuals from their homeland to another foreign land. Currently a significant increase in the migration of highly skilled and higher educated people of Pakistan to more developed countries. Pakistan is facing the issue of brain drain due to many reasons like increased turmoil, socio-economic problems and a few pull factors like opportunities offered globally. These causes have created drastic consequences as well, e.g. economical impact, social impact and political impact. Collectively, all these factors have widespread the phenomena of brain drain.
