

Is Peace Possible in a World Full of Weapons?

1 Introduction

Thesis statement: A recent debate is rising on a question that either peace is possible or not in a world full of weapons. The fact is that peace is just an illusion in a weaponized world. Weapons promote threat and fear, not the peace.

2 Historical perspective of war and peace

3 Peace is not possible in a world full of weapons

(3a) Peace is not merely the absence of war

(3b) Proliferation of weapons is a threat to peace

(3c) Peace building is a modern form of imperialism

(3d) Multilateralism is rising to secure certain interests

(3e) AI warfare is a modern warfare front

4 Peace is possible in a world full of weapons

(4a) Peace is mostly disturbed by conflicts

(4b) Weapons are not the only reason of war

(4c) Imperialism is ~~possible~~ only ^{possible} due to internal issues of states

(4d) Multilateralism can remove unipolarity

(4e) AI is not as destructive as traditional weapons

5 Peace is just an illusion in a weaponized world

(5a) It is an illusion that only conflicts disturb peace

(5b) Weapons are considered as a sign of strength

(5c) No state has the right to intervene in other states

(5d) Multilateralism is a way used by world powers

(5e) AI warfare is not a threat, is just an illusion

6. Conclusion