Each era brings many issues that no one likes them but has to accept it. Sometimes, nature tests us by placing such things in front of us which are neither related nor workable for us. However, the one has to adopt it in his life.

Today, the same goes on. Each century brought transformation with it that were new compared to previous one. The development of natural science and arts has given man a lot, which can be termed as scientific and economic processes. Nature gives us fruit, at the same time, makes us bound to dispose the peels of fruit. If it is not done correctly, the environment gets polluted.
