

CSS-1987: Precis

DATE: ___/___/___

The magnificent gift of brain that has used complex mechanism for its evolution. It is the brain that has revolutionized the whole world with the help of sensory organs. So, the brain is the masterpiece of the nature. The evolutionary processes are achievable through full hearted efforts. The freedom represents revolution and brings a responsibility with it.

Precis CSS-2001.

~~The things are perceived differently~~
Early Greeks did not allow their genius to represent the external beauty of nature into their work. The beautiful natural beauty was not represented in any form. Similarly, the early people did not inspire by the beauty of nature. The reason was the natural calamities and the human's enemy animals were part of it. ~~The Greeks did not like it.~~ It remained intimidating for them. Greeks did not like it because, it made agriculture difficult for them. Even though they got things from the sea, they consider its shore as a wasteland. As expressed by Homer. Art on nature was not encouraged in the Greek times; It remained a part of a background of art. The nature was consid-ever antagonistic. The social circumstances did not bring revolution. After the end of Greek Republic, people gathered in different cities and they sought rural setting. So, after that, the great writers emerged with their remarkable work on nature.

Title: Greek's Thoughts on Nature.

Precis 1988

In Old times, in theatres, the common people ~~were~~ to either sit or stand around the platforms. However, the noble seated themselves in galleries out of ions. The London theatre opted this setting. They were oval or round ~~with~~ entrance at both sides and a balcony. In poetic dramas, it was easier for dramatist to move freely. ~~The engaged audience with~~ The actor had to engage audience with his imagination. In Elizabethan times, the audience found richness and greatness in theatre that is not apparent in dramas now.

Title: The Role of Theatres.

Precis 1989.

Greeks were one of the greatest civilizations of the world. Although, they were surrounded by uncultivated Persia as an enemy. Later on, they declined because of loss of their spiritual strengths. Before it, Athens was the only free state in the world, while others have no freedom. Greeks defeated great numbers of Persians at Marathon and Salamis. The reason of victories was, Greeks were free men. The Greeks won because of their spirits. They rose because freedom was dear to them.

Title: The spirit of Freedom of Greeks

Precis 1991

~~In Europe it is mandatory to stop trains at borders.~~

Precis 1991

In European countries train system has problems. The voltage system of Germany and French, Spain's gauge track; lower English bridges are flawed and incompatible. However, workers' patriotism leads to make their train system indispensable. France is working on efficiency, Germany and Italy are working to develop fast trains.

Title: European Train System and Patriotism.

DATE:   /  /  

Precis 1992

During human development, man is imposed with external miseries by nature and internal by other man. He Unlike animals, he survived because of his free hands, upright posture and intelligence. Besides, man has increased in numbers than any other organism. Although, nature still exercises its wreath in the form of famine or flood. These external calamities are tackled by man. However, man still exercises evils on other man. He is in wars and does oppression of other man. He is tyrant, greedy and power lover. Fear is a motivating factor for many people.

Title: Development of Man.