Disinformation; A Threat to Democratic Values.

Menace of Disinformation to Democratic Values

Democracy relies on authentic discourse and informed citizens. However, misinformation and disinformation pose a significant threat to democratic values.

It boost polarization and undermines trust in electoral process. It influence voters in conventional and unconventional form. Electoral process are also attacked directly by anti-democratic agents. However, various mechanisms to counter misinformation exists. The implementation of these mechanism requires some resolutions. Firstly, recognizing the severity of the matter. Furthermore, classifying information as false. Lastly, assuring interventions against misinformation, which ensures democratic values.
