

Gender equality is a Myth!

1) Introduction

Thesis Statement: ~~Gender equality is indeed a myth because it exists everywhere. Nevertheless, it can be rooted out of the society if pragmatic measures are taken against gender discrimination in unison across the board.~~

2) Defining gender equality

3) How gender equality is a myth

3.1) Women ~~are~~ facing harassment ~~in~~ educational institutes and ~~at~~ workplaces.

3.2) Absence of equal ~~opportunities~~ opportunities

3.3) Unequal pay while performing the same role ~~and~~ duties

3.4) Girls education access is abysmally poor

3.5) Killing of women on the pretext of honour

Qandeel Baloch case

3.6) Women have no say in making decisions ~~related~~ to their lives.

Forced marriages: prevalent in many parts of the world.

3.7) Transgender survive living by via charity

3.8) Discrimination against women in inheritance from parents.

3.9) Women constitute major chunk of unpaid workforce.

3.10) Politically women are underrepresented.

4) How to achieve gender equality

4.1) Women should have equal representation to men in politics.

4.2) Educating women should be prioritized.

4.3) Gender-based violence should be dealt with iron hand.

4.4) Conducive environment must be created at workplaces for women workforce.

4.5) Government should enforce equal pay policy for all genders.

Case in point: BBC discrimination against women anchors in pay.

4.6) Women should have freedom in decision-making related to their lives.

4.7) Cultural and religious misconceptions regarding gender roles must be addressed.

4.8) Steps must be taken for women's financial independence.

4.9) Gender-sensitive curricula must be designed.

5.) Conclusion

Make outline and thesis statement on multiple topics to have command over deconstruction of the topic

Use appropriate prepositions