

~~Precis 2017~~

The ills that exist in today's world is because of our misdirection. The world today is in disarray not because of low enthusiasm rather because of submissive ideas. Even today world has lot of passion but it is misdirected. Had the leaders in power taken sometime off, the world today might have been better. In today's day an age if western leader let go the idea that inactivity is a sin, the world would be better. At present, some religious organizations are focusing on just female dress code and loud sound of music. They need to take breaks and reflect ^{on} their thoughts.
