

Indirect Speech in Paragraph form

Helen: Mr West, What's happened to John?

Mr West: He has left the company

Helen: Why has he done that?

Mr West: He <sup>John</sup> asked me for a rise but I did not give it to him.

Helen: Why did not you give him a rise?

Mr West: Because he was lazy

Helen: has he found another job?

Mr West: I think he earns quite a lot ✓

Helen: Does he like the new job?

Mr West: I don't know. ✓

When Helen asked Mr. West what had happened to John, Mr. West replied that John had left the company. On hearing that, Helen asked why he had done <sup>that</sup> this. Mr. West informed him that John had asked him for promotion but he had not <sup>given</sup> give it to him. After this, Helen asked the reason for not doing so. Mr. West replied because of his laziness. Helen asked Mr. West <sup>if</sup> what his salary was <sup>and how much</sup> if John had found another job. Mr. West said that he thought he earned <sup>a lot</sup> a lot but he did not know whether he liked the new job or not -