

Nations do not die from invasion; they die from internal rottenness

1. Introduction

Nations face decline due to internal breakdown of rules, values, laws and ethics rather than external threats. This internal decay results in long-term and devastating repercussions. However, this curse can be cured by taking effective remedial measures.

2. How death of nations is caused by internal decay rather than external invasion

3. Factors showing nations' decline due to internal rottenness rather than external threats

- a- Erosion of public trust in state institutions due to endemic corruption
- b- Growing social resentment due to widening gaps between the rich and poor
- c- Exacerbating societal fragmentation due to divisions within political systems

- d- Declining public commitment to shared values and civic responsibility ✓
- e- Subdued competitiveness within the nation due to neglect of education and innovation ✓
- f- Prevalence of cultural tensions due to forced assimilation policies of the state ✓
- g- Persistent economic decline due to lack of meritocracy ✓

4. Repercussions faced by the nation due to Internal Rotteness ✓

- a- Political Instability ✓
- b- Economic Stagnation ✓
- c- Surge in Ethnic Conflicts ✓
- d- Formation of Insurgent Groups ✓
- e- Erosion of law and order ✓
- f- Rise <sup>in</sup> ~~of~~ Xenophobia ✓
- g- Deterioration of the reputation of nation at international level ✓

5. Solutions for mitigating Internal Rottenness within the nation

- a- Promoting meritocracy within the nation
- b- Fostering national harmony
- c- Strengthening democratic principles within the state

6. Conclusion

Keep practicing on different themes/topics
It is a fine attempt