

Task:

Question: Why I want to be a CSP officer? In 200 Words.

Answer.

The CSP officer is the best job in Pakistan. First of all, the CSP officer has respect and well social status in the society. Everyone in society tries to establish good relations with me. On the other hand, if I have a private job no one gives that respect. The second good feature of a CSP officer is a competitive salary. The average salary of a CSP officer ranges from 80 to 110000. On the other hand, I have experienced that the salary is not good in the private sector job as compared to CSP. The third thing is job security, In the private sector there is no job security, sometimes your job is dependent on your boss's mood. On the other hand, CSP officers have job security, no one can fire me easily as compared to the private sector jobs. The fourth thing is being a CSP officer I have the power to make an impact on society. I can resolve the issues of the people by using this power. Another thing I have is nobody can challenge my decision easily. The last and most important thing being a CSP officer I have a chance to serve and contribute to the prosperity of my country.

---

Improve sentence structure and use proper nouns

Typed assignments are not entertained