Precis.

Title :- Importance of meaningful lessons achieved from the past.

Indent the paragraph.

Throughout the history an iconic and special connection has been seen between past and future. Those people who do not look analytically at their history and what they have done in their past. ~~These kind of people~~ are mostly seen as unsuccessful. While those people who accept the reality and summarized their past got success after achieving seriousness in their life. Their memory enriched with ideological and golden thoughts and goals. They assemble these particular lessons and move forward for their shiny future. On the other hand, there are people and governments who buried their history, never tried to look back and they just believe in their self made present and future. Infact they never
