

WOMEN AS AGENTS OF CHANGE

Thesis statement: Women universities act as well organized

agents of change by bringing economical, technological and political change.

A. Introduction.

B. In various ways women universities act as agents of change.

1. Women universities bring educational change in society.

2. Universities for women socially reform society by educating women about their legal rights.

3. Byproducts of women universities bring economical change.

4. Women universities produces educated voters that bring change in political regime.

5. Women universities exacerbate role of women in policy making that in return change society.

6. Change in social status of women is possible through women universities.

7. Women universities bring administrative change by increasing the number of women at administrative posts.

8. Universities produce educated women who bring technological change.

9. Women universities create health conscious society by educating about woman health issues.

10. University make educated women who are less tolerant towards violence, that consequentially bring peaceful changes in society.

11. Women universities decreases gender gap that in return bring healthy changes in society.

C. Conclusion.

