

Q. 2. Write a precis of the following passage and suggest a suitable title: (20)

All human beings are liable to err. To be at peace with oneself, the realisation of this fact is essential. Humanity is faced with numerous struggles and difficulties. We should view our own problems as part of a universal struggle and brace ourselves to meet every difficulty with fortitude. To be frantic and desperate on such occasions cannot help the situation. Perhaps, the greatest folly is for each of us to hug his troubles to himself. Often, the path through our worst worries can be made smoother if we seek the guidance of a trusted friend. However, there are limits to human wisdom. The only adequate way to endure large evils is to find large consolations. The key to this search is prayer. The faith, in a beneficent 'Higher Power' can carry us through our most anxious moments. It has cured many people of their diseases and banished melancholy from their hearts. It was faith in God coupled with hard work which enabled Alexis Carret to face ridicule and rejection calmly and finally become the recipient of the Nobel Prize. Finally, how much less we should worry about ourselves if we were to worry about others. How comfortable we would be if we could see our struggle as a part of the struggle of a whole creation intent on growth and renewal. By doing so, we not only make our lives easier but we also add our bit to the sum of human dignity and faith.

Q. 3. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given at the end. (20)

After the situation has been carefully analysed and the possible outcomes have been evaluated as accurately as possible, a decision can be made. This decision may include the alternative of not making a decision on the alternative presented. After all the data can be brought to bear on a situation that has been considered, some areas of uncertainty may be expected to remain. If a decision is to be made, these areas of uncertainty must be bridged by the consideration and evaluation of intangibles. Some call the type of evaluation involved in the consideration of intangibles, 'intuition', others call it hunch on judgment. Whatever it be called, it is inescapable that this type of thinking must always be the final part in arriving at a decision about the future. There is no other way if action is to be taken. There appears to be a marked difference in people's abilities to come to sound conclusions. When some facts relative to a situation are missing, those who possess sound judgment are richly rewarded. However, as effective as intuition or hunch on judgment may sometimes be, this type of thinking should be reserved for those areas where facts on which to base a decision are missing.

Questions:

1. What must be done to bridge areas of uncertainty when making a decision, according to the passage?
2. How do some people describe the type of evaluation involved in the consideration of intangibles?
3. What does the passage suggest is the final part in arriving at a decision about the future?
4. According to the passage, when is the use of intuition or hunch judgment most appropriate?
