Title:- A Visit to Qualla Boundary

The author visited Qualla Boundary, a town in Cherokee. The mountain scenery surrounding the town was breathtaking sight. The traditional lifestyle of the Indians, the tribal crafts they made and the historical pageant that played six times a week presented to tourists a rough image of Cherokee in the 18th century. They also visited the souvenir shops which sold rubber tomahawks and war bonnets. There they befriended a local, George, who told them that besides trade, the "Bingo Weekend" where the tourists can enjoy various kinds of games in large hall, is another source of income for them during off-tour seasons. Finally, they visited the town's museum where different kinds of arts, like handwoven baskets and carved figurines are displayed.
