Abilities of a Real Leader

When we handovered our affairs to others, it is important to know what is possible. It is worthless to make good projects when they cannot be completed. Incitement of unconfined people are like a parallogram of passion. A great leader recognized their passion and know his abilities and limits. He does not become brised between different classes. He taked nation as living body whose parts are interdependent. People have legal right to retaliate against a forceful leaders when they do not solved their economic and social problems. People followed the way of person whom they have full confidence.

The other side of what is possible ~~that~~ that difficult things are possible to do. A good leader awakes his nation and make his nation progress with actions. Common politicians tried to bring structured change but real leader know how to deal with religious people and real needs of people. A real leader always keep nation above his principles.
