

Can women be equal to men in Pakistan

Argumentative Essay → No

Introduction

Crunch Paragraph

Outline

Thesis

1) Pakistan is a home of patriarchal society. That is why, women cannot be equal to men in Pakistan.

2) Many girls are not able to get basic form of education in Pakistan.

3) Force marriages are very common in Pakistan. In that marriage women are the victim.

4) Women faced harassment in their work life in both government and private sector.

5) An injection of oppression is injected into the vein of women.

Antithesis

1) Mutual understanding between diverse actors generate solution to a problem.

2) E-learning is access to everywhere into the world. It makes the education easier.

3) The choice of a spouse is totally dependant on the both girls and boys.

4) The crime is not limited to women only. Men and women both faced harassment.

5) Women are fully aware of their rights in the 21st century.

Synthesis

1) The supremacy of decisions are only accessible to men in the patriarchal society of Pakistan.

2) Men are always afraid that if women can get education they 'degraded' him.

3) Force marriages are considered as a tool to fulfill their own traditionalist concept about caste and creed.

4) Physical and cyber bullying are faced by women more than men.

5) The mother of women always nurture their child to keep silent in all matters.

Freedom cannot be achieved unless women have been emancipated from all kinds of fear and oppression.

(Nelson Mandela)

An injection of fear is inserted into women through different oppressions. Women is not free in all kinds of matters. The people of society teaches the women in such a way; that she always feel a pain of oppression. If any state of the world wants to become successful; it is necessary to remove a fear from the society.

Women can be equal to men in Pakistan. In the Islam, everybody has equal freedom to do anything. According to a Quran, a best person is who kind to their wives. So, it is clear that women have more respect than men.

Pakistan is a home of patriarchal society. That is why; women cannot be equal to men in Pakistan. However, mutual understanding through diverse actors is a solution to every problem.

Many girls are not able to get basic form of education in Pakistan. Other than education sector, force marriages are very common. In that marriages, women are the victim. Women faced harassment in both private and government public sector. An injection of suppression is injected into the vein of women. E-learning is access everywhere in the world! So everybody can get basic education. Women are fully aware about their right and duties. In the 21st century, both ^{girls} and boys are freely choose their spouse. Any kind of oppression is not apply to the men and women. On the other hand, a crime is not limited to men only. Both men and women equally faced crimes. Pakistan is a home of patriarchal society, that is why, women cannot be equal to men in Pakistan. A small to big type of decisions is being taken by men. Men decides the future of their child. From home to society level, men is more dominant in the Pakistan. For example, according to a World Bank, the women have access of financial resources of about 11% as compared to men. Men have 21% of access to financial resources. [According] These is a lot of loopholes in the allocation of financial resources. Girls are not able to get basic form of education in Pakistan. An education is not equal for all in Pakistan. Girls considered as a prison of the home. There are many barriers which kept in the path of girl's education. According to a report of World Bank, the 2 million girls are out of a school. They have not got basic education. In a nutshell, a disparities are present in the sector of education.

Force marriages are very common in Pakistan. In that marriages, Women are the victim. They do not know about their spouse. A damaging outcomes are happened due to the Force marriages. For example, a report of EMU revealed that 76% cases of force marriages are linked with the Pakistan. There were of about 27% people that belong to a age group of under 17%. There were about 26% people that belong to a age group of 18 to 21. In all that cases, 76% of person were women. In the end, women are the victim of force marriage.

Women faced harassment in their work life in both government and private sector. There were many women in Pakistan that can do jobs due to their financial problems. The financial problems serves as a driver for the women to go to the offices. But, a bitter reality is that women faced harassment from their office bosses and colleagues. This is the main challenge that working women faced in their life.

According to a Alliances against sexual harassment, 93% of Pakistani

Women were faced harassment in both government and private sector. Women cannot covertly speak about their problems due to financial crises.

An injection of suppression is injected into the vein of women. A mother of a girl is always teach her that always keep silent in every matter. Learn to stay silent is always learn to the girls. So, she cannot openly talk about physical and mental stress. For example, if a girl face any type of physical and mental abuse. She cannot openly talk about their problem; because her mother always suppress him. In the end, people do not know that an injection of suppression have destructive effect in the society.

A lot of problems can solve easily by the discussion. There are a lot of problems can solve by the mutual understanding. Women can equally participate in different matters. The different types of solutions are being generated through diverse actors. For example, according to a theory of communication by Jurgen Habermas told us that everyone has equal to speak and heard. A solution is generated through communication. A mutual understanding is develop through communication. So, in the

2. patriarchal society, mutual understanding among women and men generate solutions. E-learning is accessible to everywhere into the world. It makes the education easier. Now, it is not important to go to the school or any type of institution to get education. For example, there are many e-books are present on google forums. The thousands of videos are available on Youtube channel about any topic. So, e-learning makes education more easier.

The choice of a spouse is totally dependant on both girls and boys will. In the 21st century, the girls and as well as boys are freely choose their spouse. For example, in Pakistan a success ratio of arranged marriages is more than love marriages. In a nutshell, the spouse can freely choose by their own will.

The crime is not limited to women only. Men and women both faced harassment. Men are equally harassed. by But, in our society that the case of harassment are considered to only linked to the women. Men are not talking about their problems. So, do not think like that harassment are the only problem of woman.

Womens are fully aware of their rights in the 21st century. It is an era of global emerging power of social media. They are aware about their rights and duties. There are many organization in the Pakistan which tell about women rights. For instance, an Aurat Foundation is an organization who aware to the women about their rights.

The supremacy of decisions are only accessible to men in the patriarchal society of Pakistan. The concept of mutual understanding is not exist in the society.

For example, if a parent decides a school for their child. The father decision are the superior. In a nutshell, men is dominant over the women.

Other than supremacy of decisions; men are also afraid that if women can get basic education.

They degraded him. Men always want to kept their hold on women. They thought, that women are only made for house.

For example, the jirga system is existing in the Pakistan. These system does not want that women can get basic education.

Force marriages are considered as a tool to fulfill their own traditionalist concept about caste and creed. Boys and girls are not freely choose their spouses. They are forcefully indulged in the marriages. As a result, there are many biological disorders form. For example, AIDs are biological problem. Child have a high chance of AIDs; if they have the outcome of Forces marriages.

Other than force marriages, women cannot be equal to men. Physical and cyber bullying are faced more by women than man. Men and women are faced both. But, women faced more than men. According to a report of Pakistan Federal Ombudsman Secretariat for Protection against Harassment 2022, from a year of 2018 to 2022, 2,169 complaints are filed in the government sector. The 994 complaints are filed from women. And, the 148 complaints are filed from men. In a nutshell, women are facing harassment more than men.

Rather than force marriages, there is a trend in the Pakistani society. The mothers of women nurture their child to keep silent in all matters. It is the reality of our society. Silence serves as a key of survival in the Pakistani society for women.

For example, there is a myth of about to stay silent in the domestic violence. According to a report of Sustainable Social Development organization (SSDO), there were about 219 cases of domestic violence in the early four month of year in the Punjab. In the end, silence is considered as a key of survival in the domestic violence. This key of survival is mustered in to the vein of women through her mother.

In the end, if women can feel freedom without any kind of oppression the success of a state is surely granted. Women cannot be equal to men in Pakistan; because she face oppression in every sector. Freedom is a key for the removal of any kind of oppression.