

Only the wisest and stupidest of men never change.

1) Introduction.

2) Evolving nature of the world.

3) Benefits of adapting change, openness and adaptability.

a) Serves as an essential elements for growth and development.

b) exposes individual to new experiences.

c) increases emotional intelligence.

d) brings flexibility in life.

e) opens new ventures through out of box analysis.

f) reduces stress.

g) ensures advancement at individual and state level.

h) improves decision making abilities.

4) Manifestations of the benefits accompanying change.

4.1) At individual level.

a) Modern England strength lies in the strategies started by Queen Elizabeth I.

b) MEIJI revolution in Japan.

c) Sultan Fathe's adaptation of new technology in warfare.

d) Muhammad Ali Jinnah joining AIML.

4.2) At multinational Cooperations level

a) Netflix adapting to change.

b) McDonald's success in India.

4.3) At state level.

a) Success story of Singapore.

• s) Conclusion.

Thesis statement:

The world is continuously evolving and in order to grow in this complex world, one has to embrace the change, openness and adaptability.