

A great man has the same common attributes that are possessed almost by every individual. The difference is slight in nature as a layman possess these qualities and the great man has the essence and spirit of these qualities. The great Quaid-e-Azam had nothing nebulous in his personality. In his personality, he was an ordinary man. The list of his particular characteristics as follows: determination, action, honesty, oration and dignity.

K a r e e

The Attributes of a Great man

~~Precis~~ A great and ordinary man have some characteristics but a great man has the roots of those qualities. Like Quaid, who I was ambitious and practical.

Total words:

70

Precis words:

24

main idea is picked and discussed attend to cut mistakes and need improvement in basics 8/20
better than previous ones