

Democracy and illiteracy do not move together.

① Introduction

Thesis Statement:

Democracy and illiteracy are inversely proportional to each other. Because illiterate neither choose right leader nor recognize corruption in system. Hence, democracy can only be insure by increasing literacy rate.

② Democracy and illiteracy are opposite to each other.

③ Illiteracy is hindrance against democracy.

(a) Illiterate people do heroworship of political leaders.

(b) Illiterate can not understand politics and establishment.

(c) Illiterate want sudden development which is temporary.

(e) Illiterate can not figure out economic growth and development rate of country.

④ In many countries democracy is masked dictatorship

(a) Voting is just a stunt in illiterate country

(b) Establishment elects leaders in name of democracy

(c) Leaders can buy votes from voters

(d) Illiterate nations rapidly accept false notions due to lack of authentic information.

(e) Results in polling stations used to change forcefully.

⑤ Only educated people can insure democracy

(a) Educated people can acknowledge qualities of good leader

(b) Educated nation has high voting rates that insures democracy

(c) Education develops a sense of challenging corruption in high courts

(d) Education people cast vote for performance instead of hero worshipping

⑥ Conclusion.

Bring maturity in your arguments