A. INTRODUCTION

According to Alesse Brooks in her Book "Gender Based Violence: Fact or dream", has argued that gender based violence is a fact. In order to substantiate her arguments she has given some facts and case study. Pakistan is facing such incidents of gender based violence since its inception till to the date. Manifestations of such gender based violence in Pakistan is visible in dowry deaths, acid attacks, and sexual favours based performance. In order to overcome these problems, Pakistan needs some workable strategies such as involving scholars on board, implementation of prevention of anti women practices and initiating a separate hotline for female victims, managed by females.
