

Precise 2023:

Title: Freedom in education.

The author highlights three main schools of thoughts on freedom in education. Among which one party advocates complete freedom.

The second one advocates complete absence of freedom. However, the third party believes in freedom, but only for the good. Author did not agree with this individualistic approach which believes that education has no positive purpose it is only for development.

Whereas, positive education is a prerequisite for a co-operative society. Some pro-freedom educators are successful due to their exceptional judgment, which is impossible to create. Therefore, the purpose of education should must be to provide mental and moral equipment along with development.
