

Busyness is Curse

The root cause of all the evilness and maliciousness in the world is due to a busy man.

A busy person is always engaged in some task and considers idleness as a waste of time. The outcome of disorderliness and chaos in this world is not laziness but active people are its originators.

The WWI (1914) and WWII (1939) are the products of energetic leaders. If they did not actively participated or signed Versailles treaty respectively, there would be peace shining from every corner round the world. But this can only happen when laziness is counted under the good books. Moreover, different religious groups gave birth to disparities and discrepancies among people by indulging into their lives. If they do nothing, the order will be established.
