

Essay: Feminism has failed women

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis statement: The perception of feminism's success or failure varies among individuals. However, it has not succeeded because women still do not have equal rights. Therefore, feminism has not fully achieved its goals.

2. A closer look at ~~the~~ ^{feminism} evolution

3. How feminism has failed women

a. The existence of a wage gap between men and women

b. Women ^{still} struggle to secure jobs

c. Social stigmas link to the traditional roles of women

d. Women lack political empowerment

e. AI exacerbates disparities in women's rights.

4. Feminism has achieved its goals.

a. Every constitution secures essential gender equal rights

b. Political quotas ensure representation for women

c. Several movements advocate for women's rights.

d. Job quotas secure opportunities for women

e. Organizational policies ensure protection for women from harassment

5. Feminism's goals remain unfulfilled despite progress.

a. Constitutional commitments lack consistent implementation

b. Political quotas focus on numbers undermine women's rights.

c. The impacts of women's rights movements are limited

d. Job quotas ~~are~~ for women are not proportional

e. Despite organizational policies women still face discrimination in the hiring process

6. Conclusion