

World Peace is a Choice of Super Powers

OUTLINE

1 - Introduction

Thesis Statement: The concept of world peace is indeed influenced significantly by the actions and choices of Super Powers. However, some people ^{a school of thought} argue that world peace is attainable without the will of Supreme powers, but this notion is not much convincing.

2 - Super powers as the stakeholders of World Peace

3 - International peace; a mere choice of Superpowers (thesis)

- a. The steering of the global peace keeping body "Veto Power" lies in the hands of Superpower.
- b. Superpowers are the economic giants influencing the policies of other states.
- c. Superpowers possess the diplomatic capability to either exacerbate the tensions or perpetuate the world peace.
- d. Superpowers are fearless of any kind of sanctions from United Nations.

e. Superpowers are the major donors to the peace keeping bodies

4. World peace is possible without the will of Superpowers (Antithesis)

a. Encouraging diplomatic efforts to address conflicts before resorting to the United Nations

b. Emerging economic powers, free from the influence of superpowers, have the capability to advocate and promote peace in the world

c. Global cooperation and alliances have a tendency to pave a way towards global peace

d. The major exporters to the superpowers can pressurize them to maintain peace

e. The campaigns of public awareness and activism are the major tools to perpetuate global peace

5. Superpowers are the first step of the ladder towards international peace (Synthesis)

a. Nations conducting their policies against the will of superpowers are the major target of wrath of supreme powers

b. No nation state pursues international peace on the cost of her economic interest

c. Superpowers have the strength to mold the decisions of alliances according to their will

d. In bilateral or multilateral trade, cutting trade would have more effect on weak state

e. Despite being the flagbearers of democracy, superpowers know the tactics to oppress the voices of masses

6. Conclusion

Good effort