

Knowledge: A useful gift

Knowledge is a useful gift than that of material gift.

The reason for the importance of gift of knowledge is that it demands struggle and hard working. On the other hand, material gift requires no sacrifice.

The gift of material goods makes a slave, but the gift of knowledge gives a man freedom.

~~The~~ The gift of knowledge is close to development. It also makes a man self supporting, self-reliant and independent. Different programmes should impart knowledge by making men self sufficient. It is a best way of earning. In some cases, material goods can be helpful to ramp up the process of development.

Total words: 342

Given words: 106

Education: A Key to development

Education is a reflection of society. It develops with the changing of society. It enables ~~people~~ young about the discoveries of the world. Society will shape the future of the education. Educational institutions need to be ~~redefined~~ restructured, and the principal responsibility will remain same to enable the students' skills to deal with the problems. For this purpose, ~~but~~ intelligence is a vital national resource. These institutions will come under stress, and ~~the~~ system of education will face challenges due to advancement. Political instability will force people to migrate from poor nations to rich ones. It will spread the culture of host countries. But today's assimilation of culture is coercive form of culture. There is possibility the state ~~state~~ may raise concerns over the schools education system of the state.

Total words: 80

Given words: 175