

Climate Change

Climate change is one of major issues worldwide. The whole world is facing sheer rains, floods, droughts, and storms. Due to these, many people have lost their lives and possessions. Not only this, but many people are also facing abject hunger - many people who belong to low class and farmer - thus, it instigates people to opt for heinous act in order to fulfil the bellies of their families. There is a famous dictum in philosophy that "No one becomes criminal by birth but it is society and situation which makes a person to be a criminal". To put this in mind, one can easily gauge that how climate change affects the lives of many people which ultimately make them criminals. There are various reasons which have participated in jacking up the climate change, such as; human activities that are the core reason for climate change. Humans have developed many technologies for the sake of their comforts which are contributing pollution, green house gases and many other activities are included that ultimately turn to climate change. Therefore, it is necessary to stamp out the climate change with collaboration of all countries. If this remains the same, there will be chaos in the world. Hence, new strategies are necessary to be introduced.
