Lahore is not only known for its politics but also for ancient traditions. This city has witnessed the supreme period of Mughals.

It was also the epicentre of culture. Even literary and educational culture flourished in this city. Sufis were also from the same city. The writer of the famous book - Kashaf Al Majooob - Ali Hajveri famously known as Data Ganiy Baksh is also buried in Lahore city. In addition to that, during the British rule, Lahore's fashion was adopted across the India. This city remains as important as well as even after the separation of Pakistan.

English Pre'ci:

According to the author, climate can affect the way we conduct our lives. A man living in colder part of the world usually exhaust his energies in trying to keep himself warm. In northern Europe, one has to procure much needed resources like warm clothes, food and firewood. Whereas, this is not the case in hotter parts of the world, where one can sustain easily without worrying very little about it. But, cold weather can challenge us and make us stronger. It is evident that climate can affect the way we live. People are generally lazy during summer season, and more agile and hardworking during the cold season.
