

Date: _____

CSS-2002

Role of Language in Human Development

Humans are called Homo Sapiens; but some anthropologists say human as Homo Faber. There is another definition which combines with Faber and Sapien. It is because of communication skills that turns a man into knowledgeable and efficient. Human must be Faber and Sapien in order to be good at language. It is language which made us acquire the knowledge, religion, ethics, laws and turned us civilized.

Total words = 63

Objectives of University Education

The main objective of University is to improve the Society. University is not stick to single profession nor it makes a person hero or genius. Neither it produce poets, authors, leaders nor forming experimentalist, economist or engineers, but it is part of a university scope. University aims at making a person intellectual, shape up his mind, teach him the true principles. Education teaches a man to be clear about his opinions, views and judgements. It teaches them to go on right direction, to choose right and not to focus on unimportant things.

Total words = 90