Realism in Manto's Writings

Manto's critics always questioned his morality and intelligence. But he always stood ~~from~~ his ground exposing the real face of society. Like Freud, he had concerns for people from lower class. Being a realist, Manto believed that man is a mix of good and evil. This duality of humans made him irritated. He established good relations with his audience because of his writings on social-moral issues. Manto ~~trout~~ wrote about vulgarity in a professional manner and people could relate Manto's writings with themselves.

~~And~~ ~~like~~ Like other writers, he became bigger than himself.

Punctuation (CSS-2020)

Letters between relatives and friends are called personal letters. The most important thing in such letters is the content. Don't begin with a hackneyed phrase like, "I was delighted to get your letter", "received your letter" or "I have often thought of writing to you". Use a vigorous, clear, chatly style.
